Thought for the month

It can't have escaped anyone's notice that this year marks the 100th anniversary of the first victory in the battle for votes for women and once again I am wondering (as I have done since I was young) who it was that first decided that half the human race was inferior to the other half. In the Bible there are a lot of stories about strong women who took the lead – think Deborah, Esther and all those in the stories of the early church. Genesis tells us that God created Adam and Eve to be 'companions' for each other and St. Paul, writing to the Ephesians, says that husbands and wives should respect and support each other.

Somewhere along the line somebody must have had the idea of fifty per cent of humans being superior to the rest and that leads me on to further musings about inequality which so often leads to discrimination – which white person came up with the idea that those of a different skin tone were less than human and that it was okay to sell them into slavery to be exploited and abused? Why is it, in this day and age, that those born with a disability or disfigurement can still be regarded with suspicion and hate? Modern medical science has found the reasons for most birth defects so ignorance is no longer an excuse for discriminatory behaviour towards anyone who 'looks different' - just imagine what a protest there would be if suddenly it was decided that anyone with a snub nose was not the equal of those with straight noses!

No. Inequality on the grounds of race, gender, age, or ability is simply wrong. We need to remember that Jesus came to teach that God loves and values everyone equally and he certainly demonstrated that love – he touched lepers and dead bodies (both regarded as unclean) treated women with respect, consorted with society's rejects, and helped the disabled and those with mental health problems. He healed anybody and everybody (including members of the occupying force) who asked for his help, from important officials to beggars, as long as they believed he could.

In this country huge strides have been made over the past one hundred years with respect to equality and we give thanks for progress so far but we need to pray for the demolition of any further barriers to true equality in this country and around the world so that love and respect for all humans becomes the universal norm. What an amazing world it would be if each person valued others as their equal and worthy of respect.

Why did the chicken cross the road? Why, to greet Holly and (on her first outing,) Crocus; Dexter mother and daughter. This was the scene outside the newly reopened Village Stores on a bright but chilly Tuesday afternoon. The cattle-wranglers were refreshing themselves with hot chocolate from the Jam Jar café while the Dexters accepted pats and praises. The chicken, or cockerel, to be more precise, was snugly enfolded in a brown paper bag and tucked under the arm of a passer-by and his family. Conversation ensued. The cockerel was on extended leave from his organic chicken farm of 250 hens and was now recuperating on a barge with his saviours. Other items of interest followed.

Where else could you enjoy such a scene? And for the price of a good coffee and a warm welcome? We Ashburians/ Ashburyites, take your pick, said we wanted a village shop, a children's playground and an open space. We have all three. Two are very well used. The Village Stores is run for our benefit. A warm place to see your friends for a chat and meet new ones, free wi-fi and, with your support, a wider range of staples as well as the great cards and local craft goods. Why wouldn't you drop in?

NB Sadly, there will be no service in the Chapel on 1st April which is Easter Sunday.

Benefice News

Music in Country Churches, patron HRH Prince of Wales, will present two concerts in St Mary's Church, Bampton, on Friday 18 and Saturday 19 May 2018. On Friday 18th May, the Kings Consort and soprano, Julia Doyle, will perform work by Handel and several famous Italian composers. On Saturday 19th May the English Chamber Orchestra, with John Anderson on oboe, will perform works by Mozart and Hummel. We expect tickets to sell quickly once they are released on 26 March, further details will be available soon. In the meanwhile, please hold the dates. Neil Sutherland Fernham

Lent courses -Something for everyone this year, we hope.

As usual, the Lent course in Ashbury is being held jointly with the Free Church and this year is based on the film The Shack, based on the film of the same name. We started on 20 February but anyone who is interested is welcome to come along. More details from Richard & Norma (710055).

Meanwhile in Shrivenham a series of films is running on Sunday evenings; again, more details from Richard and Norma (710055) but the March dates are: 4 March at 7pm The Mission 25 March at 6pm Blade Runner 2
No film on 18th as this is Mothering Sunday

And on Saturday 24 March in Fernham (10-4) there is a chance to look at The Beatitudes and what it means to be a contemplative, compassionate and courageous church – not just in theory, but practically for our church communities. Everyone, especially those with (or aspiring to) a role in church leadership is invited to come along. Lunch and refreshments will be provided. More details from Richard Hancock (780183) or Richard & Norma Fergusson (710055).

Women's World Day of Prayer

This year's service is on Friday 2 March in the Ashbury Free Church at 2.15. The theme is "All God's creation is very good!" and the service has been prepared by the Christian women of Surinam. Come along and hear what they have to say to us.

Breakfast Groups

Men's breakfast will be held in Ashbury Village Hall as usual on Saturday 3 March at 8am; Breakfast Bible Study on 31 March (Easter Eve). All welcome. Please let Norma and Richard know if you would like to come – 710055

Magazine deliverers' tea

We are most grateful to everyone who takes the time to deliver copies of this magazine in our villages and would like to invite you to tea in Longcot Chapel in May, during the Flower Festival. Watch out for more details.

Faringdon Singers' Easter Concerts

These will be on Saturday 17 March at All Saints, Faringdon, at 7.30 and Sunday 18 March at St Michael's, Cumnor at 6.30. The programme will include the Duruflé Requiem and the Choral Suite from Karl Jenkins' The Armed Man. Entry is free. See www.faringdonsingers.org.uk got further details.

A Prayer for Lent

Heavenly Father, your Son battled with the powers of darkness, and grew closer to you in the desert:

help us to use these days to grow in wisdom and prayer that we may witness to your saving love

in Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen

Norma

Country Matters

Here's a thought. If we lived on the equator we would have no seasons and no spring to look forward to. I think most of us are programmed to anticipate spring with expectation and joy. In my own case I have always had a reminder because I have an embroidered sampler hanging in my loo "In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love"!

March is said to come in like a lion and go out as a lamb. We hope so. But the signs of spring have been creeping up on us ever since the end of January. For a start we see the days lengthening, more noticeably in the evening at first. Rooks and magpies start getting busy with twigs on a fine day laying the foundations to their nests. Wherever there are hazel or nut bushes the long lemon strands of catkins are formed and a bit later the pussy willow breaks out to exhibit the softest of silky buds.

Snowdrops are the earliest flower, then in our garden suddenly at the end of January we saw a nice show of yellow aconites poking through with crocuses not far behind. Our daffodils come later but we have noticed elsewhere there are even early varieties of daffodils or narcissi this year out on roundabouts into Swindon as early as the beginning of February.

First thing in the morning the garden birds are definitely more vocal with blackbirds and robins squabbling over territory and you hear the long repeated notes of great tits. Another sign of spring is the drumming on trees and "yaffle" call of woodpeckers. I have read that cuckoos fitted with transmitters have already started their migration back from their winter quarters in Angola, hopefully repeating this particular journey of last year to Suffolk in late April.

Even on the farm our rape crops are moving on, putting on a few extra green leaves. With the housed cattle we had one small beef steer that had had to be separated in a box with a joint problem. He has now rejoined his mates and is nearly sound. Farmers call these half-grown cattle stirks. Hopefully, with turn out and Dr Grass and some summer climes we will see this beast fully recover.
