Thought for the month

Leafing through some old books the other day, I found a card used as a bookmark. It is said to be a 17th century prayer, but it seems very modern and pertinent to me:

Lord, Thou knowest better than I know myself that I am growing older and will some day be old. Keep me from the fatal habit of thinking I must say something on every subject and on every occasion. Release me from craving to straighten out everybody's affairs. Make me thoughtful but not moody: helpful but not bossy. With my vast store of wisdom, it seems a pity not to use it at all, but Thou knowest Lord that I want a few friends at the end. Keep my mind free from the recital of endless details; give me wings to get to the point. Seal my lips on my aches and pains. They are increasing, and love of rehearsing them is becoming sweeter as the years go by. I dare not ask for grace enough to enjoy the tales of others' pains, but help me to endure them with patience.

I dare not ask for improved memory, but for a growing humility and a lessening cocksureness when my memory seems to clash with the memories of others. Teach me the glorious lesson that occasionally I may be mistaken. Keep me reasonably sweet; I do not want to be a Saint - some of them are so hard to live with - but a sour old person is one of the crowning works of the devil. Give me the ability to see good things in unexpected places, and talents in unexpected people. And give me, O Lord, the grace to tell them so. Amen

The fete is particularly important this year as we are raising funds to replace the church roof after thieves stole the lead from St Mary's Bishopstone

Village Green update

Work on Ashbury Playing Field is set to start in early August. There will be heavy machinery on the Green for about 3 weeks, arriving and leaving via Malthouse Close. The contractor will protect the road surface. We shall be delivering leaflets to houses in Wixes Piece and Malthouse Close with more details and information about who to contact with questions or problems.

Most of the Green will be closed for the same period. I realise that this will be inconvenient, but please, everyone, especially children, don't go onto the work site. You could damage the work in progress or get hurt. When the new grass seed has been sown we shall need to be make sure it has the best possible chance to grow. The area will be taped off. Please don't walk or play on it until the tapes come down.

The Trustees of the William Cash Fund have agreed to contribute £2,000 towards the cost of the Playing Field. This takes us another big step towards our goal of £26,500. But we still need another £5,000. We're applying to other charitable organisations, and also asking people in the village to donate if they can. It's a really worthwhile cause – one that will benefit the whole community.

People have been very supportive in keeping the green clean and on recent visits I haven't seen a single piece of rubbish or dog poo! A big "thank you" to everyone – let's see if we can keep it up! Liz Derrington

Country Matters

We are now having a dripping June which as the saying goes “will keep things in tune”, to probably cancel out the prospect of a drought this summer. Something many were worried about following a dry winter and dry summer last year.

At the Bishopstone church roof appeal dinner at the Royal Oak in April four friends bid for our promise to show them orchids growing wild on the downs followed by a supper. 49 different varieties are listed but I only know of 5 locally. Varieties are identified by different flower structures. They are coming on June 13th. Getting the right date and evening to fit peoples’ diaries and when the most species are showing at their best is challenging. The most striking of local orchids is the pyramidal showing tightly packed deep pink flowers from mid June on a stem up to 20 cm long but they will only just be coming visible for our tour. I once found one away from the chalk on a footpath behind the old bakery in Fernham.

On Russley downs we have fragrant and the uncommon burnt tip orchid. Burnt tip are fairly common in the Wylve valley near the A303 in Wiltshire but our site is one of the very few bordering Oxfordshire. These little pink and white orchids grow only 5-10 cm high and it takes a practiced eye to spot them. Indeed after buying Lammydown farm in 1992 we were unaware of their presence for 10 years. They flower earlier and will probably be past their best by June 13th.

The Common spotted orchid, so called because of its spotted leaves, is profuse on Helen Browning’s wide open valley on the Oxfordshire/ Wiltshire border. The colour can vary from albino to pink and this site also is good for the fragrant orchid which has a similar open canopy but a more uniformly pink colour with a fragrance said to be similar to carnations. Pyramidal also abound here.

Bee orchids are now rare on the chalk in this area. They also need a practiced eye and before he died last year Ray Gigg, a long time resident of Ashbury, showed me an example on the track to the downs opposite Odstone farm, Ashbury.

Jonathan Loose of Kingston Winslow has shown me helleborines growing under beech trees on the ridgeway near Waylands Smithy. The National Trust valley rising above the village hall carpark in Hinton Parva is another good site for orchids. Never try to transplant a wild orchid. They can only thrive in the presence of a mycorrhizal fungus and the tiny seeds will take time to show leaves and further years before flowering.
